Book Signing: Tinkertown By Jim Willis

Sunday, September 15th, 2:00

Winchester author Jim Willis will read from his new 350-page memoir, Tinkertown, and lead a discussion of its theme: "How much of who I am is where I'm from?" The story focuses on the overnight birth of an Oklahoma town out of a wheat field to support a new, major Air Force base. Yet it quickly blends into a human story of the role this town played in the raising of families and their kids in the 1940s, 50s, and 60s. The author grew up in this place, in this time, and the story is told through his eyes. Willis is a veteran journalist and author of 19 books who holds the PhD from the University of Missouri and is married to Winchester native Anne Kindred Willis. Books available at $20 each. Library also has copies.
